The Intersect Group Moves Offices to 10 Glenlake To Accommodate Growth

ATLANTA—(July 28, 2006)—The Intersect Group, a leading provider of IT and Finance/Accounting services to the Atlanta market, announced today that it has moved its offices to 10 Glenlake. One of Atlanta’s fastest growing private companies, the Company has signed a long-term lease at 10 Glenlake, a Class A building in the Perimeter area.

Dan Duffy, President of the IT Division, said, “This is a sign that we are continuing to invest heavily into our mission of becoming the premier flexible professional services firm in the city for IT and Finance/Accounting. We also believe that having first-class surroundings is consistent with our image and culture of legendary service and continuous improvement. Our team is excited that we are easily accessible for our consultants and prospective candidates to get to us. We interview personally every professional that goes to work under our brand so this is critical to our business strategy.”

The Company’s short-term goal is to become the premier flexible professional services firm in the city for IT and Finance/Accounting. Once the Company has achieved scale in the Atlanta market it plans to roll out its offerings to other geographic markets. The Company’s business model blends high-level executives who have been CIOs and CFOs with a powerful recruiting engine that allows Intersect to solve its clients’ issues by putting a project team together or providing a staffing solution.
